Congratulations to Ben Gilbert who has been selected as this year’s Dr. William A. and Courtney C. Gentry Award recipient. This award is presented to a graduating psychology major who is enrolling in a graduate program in psychology or a related field. The recipient has maintained an outstanding academic record and performance at Emory and has the potential to make a strong impact on the direction of psychology.

Ben is graduating with a double major in Psychology and Economics with a cumulative GPA of 3.925. He is a Woodruff Scholar and a Scholar Fellow, and has completed internships with Grady Trauma Project and Fulton DeKalb Hospital Authority. In addition to his research work, Ben is very active in support of the LGBTQ community. He was part of a group of scholars who created the Woodruff Scholars Gender-Affirming Items Project. These scholars were recently awarded the Outstanding Trans Advocate of the Year Award at the 28th Annual Pride Awards. Ben completed an ambitious honors thesis entitled Wait a Minute, What Isn’t Right Here? Investigating How We Identify, Learn and Extend True and Untrue Information. In his thesis, he explores “differences in participants’ ability to derive new information when they encountered untrue information.” Ben will enter the Counseling Psychology PhD program at University of North Dakota this fall, where his goal is to aid others who struggle with issues around sexual orientation and gender identity.

Many thanks to Dr. William A. and Courtney C. Gentry for their generosity in establishing this award.
