

Congratulations to Emory Psychology's graduating students (2022) and recent PhD graduates (2021) on their postdoctoral fellowships & medical school placements!

---

Tom Costello has accepted a Postdoctoral Associate appointment with Dr. David Rand's lab group at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Steven Riley has accepted a postdoctoral position with the Yip neuroscience lab in the Yale school of medicine. His work will focus on developing fMRI analysis techniques for diagnosis and classification.

Madeleine Cohen has accepted a postdoc position in the Leadership Education in Adolescent Health (LEAH) Program in the Division of Adolescent/Young Adult Medicine at Boston Children's Hospital.

April Brown has accepted a postdoc position with the Residency Program in Health Service Psychology at Emory. Her work will focus on building resilience amid family adversity for children under 5, and she will work in neonatal ICUs with parents and infants who are at high risk of developmental disabilities

Cynthia Xinran Guo has accepted a visiting assistant professor position at Williams College.

Elise Ozbardakci has accepted a postdoc position in the lab of Janet Lydecker and Carlos Grilo at Yale University's Teen Program for Obesity, Weight, and Eating Research.

Devika Basu has accepted a position as a Postdoctoral Clinical Fellow at the Anxiety Specialists of Atlanta, a dedicated anxiety and OCD specialty outpatient clinic.

Annie Cheng has accepted a Postdoctoral Associate position with the Yale Imaging and Psychopharmacology Lab at Yale University.

